Privacy Policy for the Royal Gothenburg Yacht Club (GKSS)

Parties and responsibility for the processing of your personal data

The Royal Gothenburg Yacht Club (Göteborgs Kungl. Segelsällskap), registration number 857200–5513, Talattagatan 12, 426 76 Västra Frölunda (hereinafter referred to as the Association), is the data controller for the processing of personal data carried out within the framework of the Association's activities.

The purpose of the Association is to conduct sporting activities in accordance with the "Sports Movement's mission, vision and core values".

Why do we process your personal data?

In order for the Association to conduct its activities, personal data is processed for various purposes related to the activities.

The Association processes personal data to administer ongoing association activities (e.g., training activities and members' meetings), to communicate with members (invitations to activities, information to guardians, etc.), and to manage member-related financial transactions (membership fees, competition fees, etc.).

The Association also processes personal data in connection with applications for competition licences to the relevant Sports Federation/District Sports Federation (SF/SDF). In addition to the processing of personal data during the licence application process, personal data is processed at each competition in accordance with the licence regulations. Personal data is processed upon registration for competitions, during the competition, and after the competition when reporting results.

The Association also processes personal data when applying for grants from, among others, the Swedish Sports Confederation (Riksidrottsförbundet) and the Association's home municipality.

The Association is the data controller for personal data processing related to:

- Management of membership in the Association
- Association administration
- Participation in the Association's training activities

- Participation in the Association's competition activities
- Licence management
- Applications for grants
- Compilation of statistics and follow-up
- Training and education organised by the Association
- Contact with members
- Visits to our website
- Publication of material on the website and social media
- Entry bans (where applicable)
- Disturbances of order and unlawful influence (where applicable)

Who do we share personal data with?

Personal data will not be transferred to third countries and will not be subject to automated decision-making.

If, on an exceptional occasion, the Association must share your personal data with a third country, you will be specifically informed. This may, for example, be relevant when registering you for a competition in a third country.

How long do we retain your personal data?

The Association conducts an annual assessment of whether the purpose of processing personal data remains. If the purposes for processing no longer exist, the personal data will be deleted.

What rights do you have?

As a registered member of the Association, you have several rights that you should be aware of.

You have the right to obtain a register extract regarding the Association's processing of your personal data. Upon request, the Association shall provide you with a copy of the personal data being processed. For any additional copies you request, the Association may charge a reasonable fee based on administrative costs.

In certain cases, you also have the right to data portability.

You have the right to have incorrect, incomplete or misleading personal data corrected, and the right to restrict processing until the data has been corrected.

You have the right to erasure in certain circumstances, including:

- If the data is no longer necessary for the purposes for which it was collected
- If the processing is based on consent and you withdraw your consent
- If the processing is for direct marketing and you object to such processing
- If you object to processing carried out as part of the exercise of official authority or based on legitimate interest, and there are no overriding legitimate grounds
- If the personal data has been processed unlawfully
- If erasure is required to comply with a legal obligation

- If the personal data concerns a child and was collected in connection with the creation of a profile on a social network

You also have the right to withdraw consent, object to automated decision-making and profiling, and object to direct marketing.

You may exercise your rights at any time by requesting access to, correction or deletion of personal data, requesting restriction of processing, or objecting to processing. Please contact the Board to exercise your rights.

You also have the right to lodge a complaint regarding the Association's processing of personal data with the Swedish Authority for Privacy Protection (IMY, formerly Datainspektionen), see www.imy.se.

More information on how the Association works to safeguard individual rights can be found in the document Instructions for safeguarding individual rights.
